FORDNEY PEEVED
AT PLAIN TALK
BY WAR VETERANSays Congress Is Insulted
When Motives Are Questioned.VETERAN SAYS BONUS WILL
BE USED TO WIN VOTES.Illinois Representative Appeals For Freedom of Speech in Hearing.

Washington, March 12.—Members of congress will support soldier bonus legislation in order "to get votes" Frank P. Keech of New York, a former lieutenant colonel in the inspector general's department declared today before the house ways and means committee which is holding hearings on relief legislation.

"I consider that an insult to members of congress" declared Chairman Fordney.

"I do not mean it as an insult, but it is true."

"Members of congress are influenced by the will of people and rightly so," said Representative Gardner, Republican Texas.

"I consider it an insult for any persons to say that I would spend two million dollars of the public money to be elected to congress," declared Chairman Fordney.

Representative Henry T. Rainey, Democrat, Illinois told Keech he did not consider his remarks an insult and that he would appeal to the committee to overrule Chairman Fordney's effort to suppress freedom of speech among witnesses.

The witness said he was concerned over the predicted decrease in bond values. He urged the suggestion of Representative Rainey to place a tax on the 23,000 men who became millionaires during the war.

WILSON'S LETTER
STIRS LONDONERSEditor of Morning Post Brands His Epistle to Hitchcock as "Slight to France."

London, March 12.—President Wilson's charge against the American States Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, early this week, has moved the Morning Post, to take up the cudgels in favor of France. The newspaper cites Mr. Wilson's present criticism and his American appreciation of what France suffered in the cause of human freedom. Americans and Englishmen were under the amazement of France that the same voice which described her as the sentinel of liberty should now accuse her of meddling with the same kind of chauvinistic government to overthrow which she sacrificed a million of her sons.

"Mr. Wilson's slight to France" the newspaper continues, is particularly disturbing, when one remembers the moving passages in which he recorded America's appreciation of what France suffered in the cause of human freedom. Americans and Englishmen were under the amazement of France that the same voice which described her as the sentinel of liberty should now accuse her of meddling with the same kind of chauvinistic government to overthrow which she sacrificed a million of her sons.

BOXERS MAKE WEIGHT FOR FLY CHAMPIONSHIP

Toledo, O., March 12.—With both contestants down to the stipulated weight, 105 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon, Jimmy Wilde, flyweight champion of Great Britain and Frankie Mason of Fort Wayne, Indiana, are ready for their 12 round bout at the Coliseum here tonight.

Ad. Q. Thacher, the promoter, sought to have the bout made a decision affair for the international title but Dave Hughes, Wilde's manager, objected to those terms and the contracts were drawn up for a decision encounter.

Ed Smith, a Chicago newspaper man, will be the third man in the ring. Hughes having objected so strenuously to Oliver Pecord, the Toledo boxing commissioner's official referee, that the promoter and commission agreed to the change in order to provide the international attraction.

Both boxers have been training faithfully here for the bout and both are pronounced in first class condition.

Betting has been running about even, but this morning it was announced at the Toledo Athletic club that Wilde rules a slight favorite. This is said to be expected to change, however when the Indiana crowd with whom Mason is popular arrives. Wilde will draw down $10,000 for his end of the bout while Mason accepted $5,000. Mason is Wilde's senior by two years, the Fort Wayne boy being 30 years old. The height of each is the same, five feet 1 1/2 inches. Wilde has it over his opponent in reach, measuring 68 inches while that of Mason is 65 1/2.

HUGE ICE GORGE MOVES
BIG BRIDGE 10 INCHES

Pittsburgh, March 12.—An ice gorge 20 feet and stretching eight miles up river broke loose at Freeport last night, started with a rush down the Allegheny river into the county bridge, moving it 10 inches out of line, tore a number of flat boats, large barges and houseboats from their moorings, washing them down the river into the Ohio and pounding most of them into splinters on the way. According to experts ice in the upper Allegheny is level with the bridges and the tracks of the Allegheny Valley railroad and much damage is expected when it all begins moving down stream.

The gorge which went out today was one of the heaviest in recent years and when it broke the sound of the crash could be heard for several miles.

"LIMITS" CHICAGO TO 32,000 PINTS DAILY

Chicago, March 12.—Consumption of whiskey in Chicago will be limited to 32,000 pints a day, according to E. Howard, state prohibition director, announced today. He told the Retail Druggists association each druggist may sell 100 gallons of whiskey, wine or gin each month. There are 1,200 druggists in the city.

Major A. V. Dalrymple, prohibition enforcement officer for the central states, declared some druggists are buying "moonshine" which costs 18 cents a quart to make and color and selling it for 44 cents.

"If this doesn't stop I shall urge the government to establish dispensaries as quick as possible and prohibit the sale of liquor anywhere else," Major Dalrymple added.

There are 5,000 moonshine stills in Chicago, and I have found some prescriptions who are filling 500 liquor prescriptions a day."

ANNOUNCES PLAN TO SAVE MONEY ON MEAT

Washington, March 12.—The week of March 22 was set by the department of justice today as the first "save money on meat" week. Fair price commissioners in many states have been holding conferences with retail meat dealers as a result of which the cheaper cuts of meat will be selected to meet the expected demand. Howard Figg, assistant attorney general, in charge of the price reduction campaign, pointed out that the nation consumed an average of 55,000,000 pounds of meat daily and that in buying the less expensive cuts the consumer is aiding in the campaign as well as receiving an immediate benefit.

INTRODUCES A SUBSTITUTE FOR
ART. 10 CLAUSERepublicans Claim Nearly Enough Votes to Ratify Treaty.PLAN TO OBTAIN VOTE
LATE FRIDAY AFTERNOONNew Reservation Follows
Closely Bi-Partisan Compromise.

Washington, March 12.—A substitute for the Republican Article 10 reservation to the peace treaty was introduced in the senate today by the Republican leader, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. In general it follows the form of the draft agreed on several days ago in bipartisan compromise negotiations.

When the reservations was offered, it was declared among the Republicans that the negotiations had lined up almost enough votes to ratify the treaty on that basis, but that final agreement had not yet been reached. The Republican leaders planned to obtain a vote late today.

So many cross currents have appeared in the negotiations for an acceptable compromise on Article 10 that even senate leaders are at a loss to understand where the past is drifting. Republican leaders consented yesterday to changes in the wording of the dispute reservation, hoping to unite their scattered forces, but were not entirely successful.

Meanwhile Democratic advocates of an agreement undertook to work for the substitute, claiming 30 votes for it but Senator Hitchcock, neutralizing the efforts to some extent by rallying his followers to support President Wilson's stand against accepting the clause. With the uncertainty lasting on both sides it remained to be seen whether the Republican or Democratic mild reservation would introduce the substitute, or if it would be submitted to the senate at all.

A vote on Article 10 is not expected before Monday.

TEACHERS QUIT;
SALARY TOO LOWNation Faces Serious Shortage of School Instructors
Because of Inadequate Salaries.

Washington, March 12.—The country is faced with a serious shortage of school teachers, chiefly through failure to provide adequate salaries, according to reports to the United States bureau of education. Conditions are becoming increasingly better, however, report states, in some sections, compared with those of last October when the National Educational association conducted an inquiry into the situation.

Based on returns from state school reports, it is shown that wages paid rural teachers fell far below the foregoing average in many states, many localities showing salaries paid as low as $150 and $200 a year.

Salaries paid teachers in 1918, statistics show, were on an average of $606 for elementary teachers and $1,021 for those teaching in high schools. From salary schedules collected from various states giving salaries received by individual teachers in three counties in each state it is shown that the wages paid rural teachers fell far below the foregoing average in many states, many localities showing salaries paid as low as $150 and $200 a year.

COLUMBUS SHOPMEN
REFUSE TO END STRIKE

Columbus, March 12.—Notwithstanding advice of J. E. Shoemaker, general chairman of the railway car men's brotherhood, that the 700 local Norfolk and Western striking shopmen were making a mistake by continuing to strike, union officers have not called off the strike.

Norfolk and Western railway officials reported this morning that a number of the strikers were returning to work voluntarily and that they expected the strike to end shortly. However, despite that Shoemaker advised previous decision to remain on strike until their demand for discharge of Thomas Lewis, a foreman, was granted. The strikers voted also to call on men at other points on the Norfolk and Western system and other crafts to strike with them.

The federal official took the owner of the goods to the patrol station to question him and will have the contents of the bottle analyzed.

Cambridge, England, March 2.—Cambridge university botanists claim that it is possible to breed disease proof plants. A special body of investigators who have been devoting themselves to the practical testing of the mendelian heredity law are engaged in immunizing wheat, oats, barley, potatoes and roots, the results of which will be shown in the summer to a distinguished assembly of medical men.

"The plant doctors," as they are called, have already succeeded in breeding a new wheat known as "Hyomax" which has yielded 12 quarters (96 bushels) to the acre—three times an ordinary crop.

PRICES OF MEAT
CUT CONSUMPTIONDepartment of Agriculture
Says the Per Capita Consumption
Was Reduced
Eight Pounds.

Washington, March 12.—High retail prices in 1919 reduced the per capita consumption of beef in America almost eight pounds, and caused the consumer to turn more frequently to veal and mutton, according to a statement today by the department of agriculture. Slightly less pork was eaten, but the total consumption of pork products was much larger than in 1917 and the exports of pork and lard were greater than ever shown in the records of the department. The total meat consumption was less than in 1918, the per capita for 1918 being 150.05 and that in 1919 141.95.

Beef exports were shown to have fallen off 56.8 per cent, but the shipments of pork and lard to foreign ports show a great increase. The exports were equivalent to 18,000,000 hogs weighing 200 pounds a piece.

Less pork and lard were consumed in America but the number of hogs slaughtered was a million more than in 1918.

The reduction in foreign orders was the heaviest loss received by the beef industry. The exports declined 56.8 percent from the previous year. The department attributed the falling off of exports to the return of European countries to the cheaper sources of supply in South America and Australia.

USES GARB OF
RAILROAD MAN
IN CHECK FRAUDFireman Gets $10 In Zanesville and $55 in Two Operations—Newark Police Secure Confession.

J. H. Waddell, alias J. H. Smith, 22 years of age and a B. and O. fireman, was arrested yesterday evening by Police Chief James Sheridan and Patrolman Louis Swinehart after the young man had succeeded in passing a forged check on B. A. Campbell, Utica druggist and which called for $55.

Waddell's method of transacting his financial operations were certainly unique. Monday evening a young man dressed in overalls and wearing blue glasses called at the office of Mayor Evans of Zanesville, who is also a physician, and asked him for a prescription which was given him. He wanted it for his wife who was ill at home. He then went to the B. and O. depot and was there met by a man answering by J. H. Smith, stating that he was a railroad engineer. The face of the check was $10. He received his change and left and went to a drug store and had the prescription filled and left it stating he would call the next day.

Tuesday Mayor Evans found there was no funds in the bank to the credit of J. H. Smith and called on Police Chief John Arter to look up the fellow. He was traced to the B. and O. depot and it was learned that a man answering by J. H. Smith, stating that he was a railroad engineer, had been seen boarding a train for Newark.

Police Chief James Sheridan was given a description of the fellow and he went to several boarding houses and found that he remained over night at one of them and had boarded a north bound train Thursday morning. Yesterday afternoon Chief of Police Sheridan received a telephone message from a man believed to be a check worker, was headed towards Newark in one of Roy Bell's taxi cabs. The Newark official in company with patrolman Swinehart started out the Mt. Vernon road to find an easy victim. In the meantime the automobile driven by the new county commissioner W. R. Vance came along headed toward Utica and to avoid suspicion Chief Sheridan requested Swinehart to accompany Vance and meet the taxi and get Waddell. This was done and he was brought back to the patrol station and made a full confession to Chief Sheridan, after the chief had applied the third degree.

Waddell went to Utica yesterday and called upon Edward Bell and succeeded under a false pretense in getting a check for $15. At the time Waddell had on his fireman's suit of overalls and his badge and cap. He took the check raised it to $55 and started out the check worker and learned that he had left for Newark in a taxi and he called Chief Sheridan and the arrest followed.

Waddell admitted the Zanesville transaction and other matters stating that he had lately been paroled from the reformatory at Mansfield. He will be turned over to the Zanesville authorities first and afterwards to Utica.

TORNADO CAUSES HEAVY
DAMAGE AND TAKES TOLL
OF 12 LIVES—STREAMS
RISE RAPIDLY.

Branson, Mo., March 12.—Flooded streams today added further menace to life and property in southwest Missouri, where yesterday a tornado killed at least 13 persons, injured a number of others and did property damage as was feared. The danger from floods was increased by the fact that the water at Branson is held back by a dam 90 feet high and 600 feet wide. The river was reported rising rapidly.

Joplin, Springfield and a number of other southern Missouri towns and cities obtain their electric supply from the Potosi plant.

Observers agreed today that one tornado instead of two swept the effected district. Apparently it struck at Nevada, Mo., where three persons were killed and property damaged $100,000 or more. Lifting, it swept across the river valley of the Ozark hills region today was reported either overflowing or running bank full from the torrential rains that preceded and followed the tornado. Should the precipitation continue it would add to the danger from floods as was feared. Chicago concern apparently was felt over the situation at Powerline, on the White river where a large hydro-electric plant is located. The water at Powerline is held back by a dam 90 feet high and 600 feet wide. The river was reported rising rapidly.

The victims in the latter vicinity included the seven children of Mrs. and William Box. The wives of both men were seriously injured.

William Marky and Mrs. Alva Howard and her child were others killed. It was believed that the death toll would be increased today, when full reports were received.

The district over which the tornado spread was in the picturesque hills visited annually by hundreds of tourists.

DEATHS OF TWO MEN

Canton, March 12.—Two accidents yesterday caused the death of two men in Mercer county, Pa. H. C. Galtner, 41, died from injuries resulting from a fall while at work on the construction of a new building at a local manufacturing plant.

U. S. JURY INDICTS

COAL OPERATORSCharges of Violation of Lever Fuel Act Are Made at Indianapolis.NAMES OF INDICTED MEN ARE NOT MADE PUBLICFederal Jury Has Been In Session Nearly Three Months.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—One hundred twenty-five coal operators or miners of Indiana, Illinois, Ohio and western Pennsylvania today are facing arrests as the result of an indictment returned yesterday afternoon by a special federal grand jury here charging them with conspiracy in violation of the Lever fuel contract act, and the federal criminal code.

No names of those indicted have been made public and their identities will not be known until caplases are served on them. However, it is known that more than half of the number are operators and that many of the alleged violators of the federal act include the strike of bituminous miners which brought about the investigation by the grand jury. The grand jury has been in session almost continuously since December 17, 1919, and it is said examined more than 300 witnesses.

Bond for those indicted was fixed by United States District Judge Anderson at $10,000 in some cases, and $5,000 in others. Penalty on conviction of the charges, either of violation of the Lever law or that part of the criminal code under which the indictment was brought, conspiracy to commit an offense against the United States, provides for a fine of not more than $10,000, imprisonment for not more than 20 years or both.

Federal officials said today that caplases would be served on those indicted as soon as they could be prepared. No arrests, however, were expected before next week.

Edward MacDowell often wrote beautiful tone poems for children. "To a Water Lily" is such a one. It is a favorite, too, for interpretative dancing. In the "Spring Song" the different instruments take up the melody in turn and others alternate in beautiful playing themes. This record should be in every home where there are children.

Clock Problem.

There are 12 steps around the face of the watch, 1, 2, 3, etc. The hour hand makes the circuit once while the minute hand makes it 12 times. It is true that the minute hand makes 11 more steps on the dial than the hour hand does, but it also makes the same step that the hour hand takes, thus making 12 to the hour hand's one.

SHALE ACCEPTABLE AS FUEL

Satisfactorily Used Now in Estonia, It May Be Taken Up by Other Countries.

Railroads in Estonia seem in a fair way to discard coal in favor of bituminous shale, a substance common enough in geological formations to make the Estonian experiment widely interesting. Lacking coal, the Estonian provisional government has been investigating the possibilities of shale, and, as the report comes by way of Helsingfors, shale is now being used for a good many purposes. The gas factory at Reval, for example, is using shale exclusively for making gas. But, so far, shale has not been adopted as a fuel, and wood is being burned in the fire-boxes. The factory probably waits to see how completely shale can be used to run railway trains, and the railway factory in Reval is now experimenting with fire-boxes suitable to using shale in a locomotive. That it can be successfully used, however, seems to have been proved. Cost is a strong argument for the use of shale, and 3 marks for a pool, or some 30 or 40 pounds, of shale, as against 30 marks for the same measure of coal makes it very much cheaper. It would be odd, but not impossible, if later events should show that in using shale for fuel the little-known country of Estonia is leading the world.

CHILDREN'S GARDENS.

Children working on home gardening in connection with school work, produced last year $48,000,000 worth of vegetables. That was a splendid showing. Few people would have considered it possible before the war. During those two years of fighting, the community learned that there are great assets of power unused in this country. The enthusiasm and energy of children are one of those assets.

In the majority of towns and cities, there was no very comprehensive movement of children's gardens. In some places no such effort was made. In many others, school authorities simply invited the children to raise vegetables, and made no particular attempt to enlist those who did not respond.

A determined effort to get companies of children enlisted in every school district for garden raising, ought to multiply the total named above several times. In large cities of course, many children have no access to productive soils. Still city back yards often yield astonishing results.

When you persuade children to run a garden of their own, you accomplish several fine results. You make a very substantial addition to the food supply. You divert the kid element from mischief. You give them healthful outdoor occupation. You give them a sense of responsibility and respect for property. You get them in the habit of industry and attending to regular tasks.

These results mean much in character development. Children's gardens should be considered one of the most important features of their school work. The school garden movement is well established in Newark and its good effects are apparent to all.

THE LINCOLN HIGHWAY.

The project for a continuous road from New York to San Francisco, called the Lincoln highway, is making progress. Out of that distance of 3223 miles, have now been improved, and 377 miles completed with permanent work.

Many people say that these projects for main lines of highway accomplish nothing for general road improvement. But they do accomplish this, that they create a widespread sentiment for good roads.

EVADING AS USUAL.

Republican leaders in house and senate have decided to postpone the Republican measure for universal training until after the election. There, Mr. and Mrs. American you have the true appraisal of the present leadership in the nation. It will not undertake any task, any measure, no matter how imperative it may be, wherein antagonism is likely to arise. The present G. O. P. leadership lacks the courage and the statesmanship to act on any question that might result in a political disadvantage.

G. O. P. leaders were laughing up their sleeves sometime ago and predicting dire things because a presidential delegate contest was threatened in Ohio Democratic ranks. Now, however, with the Democratic situation cleared, the said G. O. P. leaders find that the shoe is on the other foot and as to laughing, they find nothing to laugh about.

As we was a-walking along the street we seen a looking cuple with their faces pretty ni glued to a window. When we got up closer I seen it were a terrible pretty pare o' fire dogs, they was a-looking at, and whilst we was still within hearing the girl says, 'Oh, George, dear, I do wish we could be the darling things! If we could,' says she, 'we wouldn't knead another thing but a easy cheez an' a house.' she says, a-smiling up at him, 'with a open fireplace,' says she.

BUELAH
The Beautiful Blonde Button-Maker.
(By Willie Gett.)
Chapter XIX.
Buelah and her lover were not loath to leave the wild surroundings they found themselves in at Rocky Fork, so Harold transferred the papers from the pocket of the butcher, who had left his coat laying on the ground, to his own pocket, secured the 1-2 pound cane sugar and assisted his bride-to-be into the limasene of the dangling fiend. Ever Harold cranked the engine, he stopped, abruptly, as if in thought, a frown wrinkling his brow.

"Something is wrong," signed he, puzzled.
"What, my brave champion," asked Buelah.
"Ah, now I know what's wrong," exclaimed Harold, a bright light dawned on his active mind. "This chapter is about to clothes and there is nought to cause you to shreak."
"That is easily remedied," cried Buelah, and, filling her lusty lungs with ozone, she gave voice to a wild shriek, which awoke the echoes of Rocky Fork and caused the lions, tigers, etc., to peer questioningly out from their lairs.

BELGIUM RECOVERING.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
Belgium's recovery from devastation of warfare is attracting the attention of all Europe. Bravely, as when the Prussians invaded the little nation, its people have given none of their time to complaining, but have quietly and earnestly gone about their difficult task of reconstruction.
America so seldom hears from the Belgians, who were so thankful for our assistance in the dire hour of need, that they have almost been forgotten in the discussions of economic readjustments at home and in other parts of Europe. This is now explained by an investigator in the current issue of the Contemporary Review. Belgium has been so busy meeting her own problems, without calling for any considerable outside aid, that she has had no time to talk of her plans. Although her losses in man power, materials and industry were proportionately greater than any of the allied powers, the co-operation of the people to reconstruct and produce places her in a better economic position than England, France or Italy have attained.
Emil Cammaerts says that "among the food industries, the sugar factories depend mainly upon beets, have already exceeded the pre-war production." Sugar, glass and coal are among the articles Belgium is already able to export. In the building trades, statistics show that 74 per cent. of the pre-war personnel is employed, and in the industries producing food the personnel is about 89 per cent. of normal. Figures for December show that in the textile industry 1122,000 spindles were operated, as against 1,975,000 before hostilities began.
All Europe would do well to follow the best way example of the Belgians. In many countries the people are wasting their time fretting over their losses through the war. There are too many strikes, too small production and too much personal extravagance. The situation calls for confident co-operation, willingness to work hard, to sacrifice and save. Belgium points the way.

XCV.—Afternoon Tea.

The stateroom seemed unbearably stuffy to Keitha, in spite of the open porthole, which admitted the tangy breath of the salt air.
She slipped out of her frock and donned a warm negligee.
A roll of the ship sent her staggering across the small floor space. She landed on the couch at the opposite side and got up with an increased feeling of unpleasantness.
"Clinging into her berth, she laid her hot cheek against the cool pillows gratefully. After a few minutes, the unpleasant feeling passed, and she slept more soundly than she could ever remember.
A knock outside her door brought her back to consciousness. She opened her eyes to find that twilight had descended. The fittings of the stateroom were vague blurs.
"Does madam wish tea?" asked the voice of the stewardess, who had passed on her way to her cabin.
Keitha debated the thought of tea.
"Yes, thank you," she replied finally without enthusiasm.
The stewardess, bearing a tray on which were a dainty tea service, sandwiches and small cakes.
"You may take back the cakes," said Keitha, when the stewardess had switched on the lights, and was just the tea and perhaps a sandwich.
The woman looked at her sympathetically.
"Madam is not getting seasick?"
"I hope not," smiled Keitha. "Wouldn't it be too stupid of me?"
She poured out a cup of tea and chose a sandwich cut like a star.
The woman, bustling herself around the stateroom with rearrangement of the towels, a touch here and there to Keitha's ivory toilet articles, gave her an amused glance.
"Madam is not seasick if she can endure the sight of a sandwich."
"But it is very good," protested Keitha, taking another. "I feel horribly sleepy and not too comfortable when I stand up."
"It will pass," replied the stewardess, comfortably. "Your husband inquired for you. I told him you were sleeping. Shall I call him? Perhaps he would like his tea served here."
"Oh, no," protested Keitha, "he is fond of the sea, let him stay on deck."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

"If The Literary Digest chose the four words most frequently printed in the newspapers of the United States and Canada in the last three months they would be: 'Pay the teachers more.'"—Saskatoon (Canada) Star.

What Organized Labor Thinks of Prohibition

Labor-leaders know the views of the workers as well as politicians know the wishes of their constituents, possibly better, for unionized labor makes its wants known in no uncertain manner. Consequently, when The Literary Digest wished to learn for its readers the attitude of the workingman regarding prohibition, inasmuch as we could not ask the individual union worker because there are about four million of him, we asked their duly elected officials.

In this week's number of THE LITERARY DIGEST—March 13th—a summary of the very interesting replies is published. Approximately thirty per cent of the 526 replies of labor-leaders inform us that a poll was taken on the question at the regular meeting. Replies came from every State in the Union, and they reflect a considerable sweep of opinion.

"Why don't you 'sick' the prohibitionists on the profiteers?" "No man has a right to dictate to another what he shall eat or drink, except the doctor." "There have been more deaths and murders in the period since prohibition went into effect than there were in the same period last year," are a few of the many replies against prohibition. "Money which formerly bought whiskey is now buying happiness for the workingman's family." "Men have more of the good things in life since the dry law went into effect." "Since prohibition is in force, the workers are capable of clearer thinking and do more of it," are typical expression from the many leaders who favor prohibition.

If you would learn from first hand sources the real opinion of the workingman upon the subject of prohibition, you will do well to read the LITERARY DIGEST this week.

CUSTER'S REGT. IS AN OHIO UNIT

War Department Allocates Famous Cavalry Outfit to
This State Where Its Noted Commander Was Born.

Clifford C. Gump, enlisted yesterday at the army recruiting station in the post office building an dwas sent to Columbus barracks by Sergeant John M. Barlow. Gump will remain at the barracks for a short period. From there he will go to join the regiment for which he enlisted, the seventh cavalry, now stationed at El Paso, Texas. Gump's home is in Willard, Ohio, but he has been employed here for some time.

The war department has honored the state of Ohio by assigning to it the seventh cavalry, historically known as Custer's regiment. The object of this is to recruit this famous regiment with men from Ohio, which will enable each prospective trooper to find men from his own home state.

General Custer was a native of Ohio, and of his soldierly bearing the state feels proud, also proud of the history that he made for the state. Ohio military men appreciate the gratitude shown by the war department in this assignment, and hope henceforth there may be a community of interest formed between Ohio and Ohio's regular army cavalry regiment.

Assignments to this regiment are direct, there being no delay at recruiting depots. Recruits will be urged to join the large "stick together" family, which has an esprit de corps second to none.

SELF-DENIAL MEANS SUCCESS

Much Food for Thought in Analysis of the Lives of One Hundred Average Men

The American Bankers' association has compiled and published the actual life experience of 100 men. It is an illuminating analysis of the good and bad fortune that come to the average of mankind. Here it is:

At age 22: 100 men all strong and vigorous with good mental and physical capacity.

At age 35: 5 have died; 10 are wealthy; 10 are in good circumstances; 40 have moderate means; 35 have saved nothing.

At age 45: 16 have died; 3 are wealthy; 65 are self-supporting, but without resources; 16 are no longer self-supporting.

At age 55: 20 have died; 1 very wealthy; 3 are in good circumstances; 40 are self-supporting, but without means; 30 are dependent on children, relatives or charity for support.

At age 65: 36 have died; 1 very wealthy; 3 are wealthy; 6 self-supporting by labor; 54 are dependent on children, relatives or charity for support.

At age 75: 83 are dead; 90 of these left no estate; 3 are wealthy; 43 are dependent upon children, relatives or charity for support; 95 per cent of these will not leave sufficient means to defray funeral expenses.

In spite of all preaching, economy and thrift are not common qualities. The large majority of men insist on living up to their income regardless of the amount of those incomes. Self-denial is a hard thing, yet self-denial nine times out of ten is the secret of substantial success.—Wheeling Intelligence.

Three Things To Remember About Rugs

FIRST

You should be very careful in your choice of them. A rug is the finishing touch to a room—it can make or mar an otherwise perfect scheme of decoration. Therefore you should carefully consider the decorations, furniture and even the arrangement of the room.

SECOND

Rugs are made in many different weaves and materials. And naturally they give different degrees of service. But in any particular weave you may have both excellent service and harmonious coloring—if properly chosen.

THIRD

Price is of small importance compared with quality. And yet an inspection of our rug display will convince you that we have marked these rugs very moderately indeed. And behind every rug you have the reputation of this store. Your guarantee of quality.

DOCTORS FORM NEW PARTNERSHIP

DR. C. J. BIEDENKOPF.

Dr. C. J. Biedenkopf and Dr. H. H. Baker formed a partnership this week for the practice of medicine and surgery. Dr. Biedenkopf has just been discharged from the army with the rank of captain in the reserve corps. The new firm is located in Hudson avenue, just north of Church street.

Daily Fashion Talk By Kitty Gordon

Miss Gordon of Kitty Gordon Inc. says: "There is nothing that so tells the taste of a woman as her indoor dresses. It is in these articles of apparel that she has an opportunity to display her originality and her ability to make much out of little."

"There are always bargains in remnants of good material, no matter how dear they may have been at first, and if one will watch bargain sales, beautiful stoffs may be got for very little. As women in these latter days wear very short and loose styles, there is no fitting and squeezing that formerly made dressmaking so difficult. To design a simple indoor dress, to cut it along straight lines, and to put it together, requires only a modicum of common sense and a little natural or acquired taste. I have in mind a most lovely house dress made by the wearer, which had it been bought at a fashionable dressmaker would have cost at least a hundred dollars, but which as it was, cost not a quarter of that amount. It was made of a remnant of black chiffon bought from a bargain counter the underwear being sapphire blue satin which was the remains of a former ball gown. The short skirt was slip like shape, and the chiffon was artistically draped and held in place at the waist line with a colorful band of dull gold beads, on the blue satin. The same beads outlined the low collar and the hair sleeves, and the slippers and stockings were of gold—the slippers having been glued to wear with this dress."

"Another useful house dress was made of white satin, also bought at a bargain, the straight skirt with three deep tucks, and the bodice made with smaller tucks, the collar and sleeves edged with bands of narrow velvet ribbon which can be changed in color to please the wearer and the complexion."

As someone remarks, wealth is only the difference between income and expenditure.

SAYS CHRISTIANITY NEVER HAS HAD FAIR TRIAL

In spite of the inclemency of the weather on Wednesday evening a large audience attended the Lenten service at St. John's Evangelical church. In speaking on the subject, "Guiltily Prosecuted," Rev. E. Kraft said in part: "The trials of Jesus Christ will ever be looked upon as a travesty upon justice. Though living a life of service and purity, and having given to the world the most exalted and practical principles, yet he was not accorded the privilege and treatment usually granted a criminal. The world has never given Christianity a fair trial because it fears and knows that the tables will be turned and the guilt of the prosecutors will be exposed."

"Many hate Christ and His church because they do not understand their wrongs. Religion would have no enemies if it were not an enemy to their sins. Contradictory testimony of false witnesses is always allowed when religion is on trial. Men are often ready to believe anything which is said about Christianity, no matter how vile and untrue, because it acts upon them and their sins as a kind of a soothing syrup. Why not call those who know Christ who can witness for him as well as others. Call the man with clean hands and not the person who is prejudiced and who has something to fear. It takes the man of courage to witness for Christ."

"The vile and vicious hurt out their attacks upon the truth, why should not the professing Christian show only boldness. There comes a time nevertheless when some attacks can best be met with silence; some accusations, directed against religion are so foolish that it is best to ignore them because those who ask them will accept no proof whatever. But when the divinity of Jesus Christ is the issue in question, the Christian must speak. Under oath Jesus responded to the question: 'Tell us, art thou the Christ, the Son of the living God?' by saying: 'I am.' How anything can parade itself as a Christian and yet refuse or even ignore the divinity of Jesus Christ, such attitude still remains a mystery. Let men believe all of Christ's words and remain loyal to him for only then can they welcome the dawn of a new, better and happier life."

Milady's Boudoir

Staving Off Wrinkles.

Wrinkles are a natural consequence of age for when the tissues beneath the skin lose their firmness, the surface becomes seamed and lined. The only way to stay the hand of Father Time is to keep the tissues well nourished and the skin clean and healthy. If you have done this and wrinkles continue to appear, then they are due to some other cause.

Wrinkles have been traced to many causes and in order to eradicate them you must first discover from what root your particular species of wrinkles have come.

Perhaps your eyes are weak, and to screen them from too strong a light you twist your facial muscles about your eyes and brows, causing crow's feet and lines across the forehead. Women who need glasses when reading or working should certainly wear them if they would keep the skin from wrinkling.

Headaches are another reason for the skin becoming wrinkled. Every woman knows that at the approach of a headache she involuntarily draws up her brows or frowns them together. Also the eyes, being affected by the pain, close entirely or partially, and the facial muscles become tense. This is a short route to crow's feet and, in a year or so, the face will appear old and unlovely, and no remedy will bring it back to its former beautiful appearance.

Our Boys and Girls

Bed time massage for the baby is a very good thing and will afford many mothers quiet evenings and peaceful nights. Begin just as soon as you are able to personally attend the baby. Fifteen minutes before baby's last day feeding, lay him up on his well padded dressing table and give him a ten minute body massage. Use a gentle, rotary motion over the abdomen and back muscles.

Hold the little arms and legs in both hands and gently rub and pat, even to the little feet and hands, spreading out the tiny curled fingers for a moment's relaxation. After being swathed in fresh, well aired clothing, his little inner man satisfied, he will sleep the clock around. If the baby is teething, dust the sheet with talcum.

Discourage too ardent adult affection from loving relatives and gushing friends. Nothing is more to be pitied than an over-kissed, over-fondled baby. They do not wish it and it makes them cross and irritable. A grownup would not tolerate such treatment for a minute. So do not allow people to pick upon defenceless mites of human beings.

Everyday Etiquette

"Is a young man supposed to send flowers to a young woman who is to accompany him to a dance?" asked George.

"It is obligatory for him to do so. It is simply a graceful thing for him to do. It is more customary when she is the girl he is engaged to marry," said his aunt.

AUDITORIUM POLYANNA
Movie fans of Newark have occasion to be "glad" for the original "glad" play has been screened and Mary Pickford is "Pollyanna" and it has attracted more crowds to the Auditorium all week, where it has played to wonderful business. When Eleanor H. Porter wrote "Pollyanna" she gave the high priestess of optimism to the world. "Pollyanna" was born glad, and the smile of gladness never leaves her cheeks, she's glad because of everything even the things that seem like trouble, for always the little girl sees the silver lining to the clouds. The role is an unusual one for Miss Pickford, for while she has frequently played children parts, this is the first play in which she never grew up.

"Pollyanna" is a blend of humor and sentiment and with every human romance for its basis, and essentially for mature enjoyment and understanding. It involves no purple paste, vexed sex problems or morbid themes. The story is about a lovable girl who through her personality and philosophy, throws out of an entire community, where the milk of human kindness has become grossly well frozen. She knits up a raveled romance of her elders and feels the thrill of her joyous first love.

"Most generally there is something about everything that you can be glad about, if you keep hunting long enough to find it." That sums up the spirit of "Pollyanna."

Manager Fenberg wishes every child in Newark to see "Pollyanna" and is making a special price of One Dime for any school child of the city vicinity, no matter the age, between the hour of One and Two p.m. Saturday.

This is a treat and should be taken advantage of. Besides "Pollyanna," a good clean comedy, also Pathe News is seen.

"In the Flame of the Yukon."
That Dorothy Dalton is a crack shot with the revolver is something few of her associates in the motion picture world know until she was acting in "The Flame of the Yukon," a Triangle play by Monte M. Katterjohn, directed by Charles Miller, supervised by Thomas H. Ince, which will be shown at the Auditorium theater next Sunday.

It was during the scene in the gambling hall when after one of the attendants had removed the revolver from the pocket of Kenneth Harlan, who takes the part of Dorothy's sweetheart, the part of Dorothy's sweetheart, the dealer challenged him to a duel and shoots at him before he knows his gun had been stolen. Dorothy Dalton's part calls for some quick, straight shooting and there was a question between Director Charles Miller and the star on the proper way of handling the revolver. The answer was simple. Dorothy Dalton is certain fashion while the star was equally positive that her way was the proper one.

Kitty Gordon.
Miss Kitty Gordon, who plays Lady Kitty Oldport, a noble woman gone into trade, in her new musical comedy, "Lady Kitty, Inc." at the Auditorium next Monday evening, is herself a noblewoman in real life. She has never boasted of, however, and has during all her brilliant career, asked odds of no one, but made her own way, by sheer merit and downright hard work, who have seen and admired the lovely Kitty in "Alma, Where Do You Live?" the Entertainers, "The Girl and the Ward," "Pretty One Smith," "Vera Vignetta," the First Winter Garden Show, or as a star of the screen, will be surprised to learn that the handsomely groomed, impeccably mannered beauty is a princess of the realm and is contrasted by birth or marriage with some of England's first families.

Major, The Right Honorable Harry H. Beresford, whom she married while just a slip of a miss, is of that family of de-lap-ers Beresford, whose names are written large in every page of Britain's history, from the present day clear back to the time of William the Conqueror.

Those gallant old regiments, The Inniskilling Fusiliers, The Munster Fusiliers, The Connaught Rangers, The Irish Guards, all have borne de-la-por-Beresford on their rosters; and their names adorn the brightest pages of their achievements. Lord Decies, who married Vivian Gould, a brother-in-law of Miss Gordon's and she is cousin and niece and aunt and godmother to a half dozen pages in Burke's peerage.

Unlike most pampered pets of good fortune, Miss Gordon, however, has never been spoiled.

Seats are now selling.

Madam Kalich.
Madam Kalich and her much heralded company, headed by Mr. Charles Millward, will bring "The Riddle Woman" to the Auditorium, Friday, March 13th.

"The Riddle Woman" which was written specially for Madam Bertha Kalich by Dorothy Donnelly and Charlotte Wells, comes with the endorsement of a seven months' engagement in New York plus three more in Chicago, during which time according to the unanimous verdict of critical opinion in both cities it is the greatest vehicle this star

ALHAMBRA
Will Rogers.
Will Rogers does some of the finest riding of his screen career in the Goldwyn Picture, "Water, Water, Every-where," which comes to the Alhambra theater Friday and Saturday. There is a mad race across country, which takes to the utmost the strength and ability of both horses and rider, and which seems at times almost to end in disaster.

There is a run which ends in a leap through the door of a saloon, the horse bringing up short in the middle of the floor. This requires the most excellent co-ordination of brain and muscle, to avoid being swept from the horse when he entered the low floor.

The exit from the saloon is even more sensational. Mr. Rogers mounts the animal, dashes to the door, throws himself partly out of the saddle, hanging by one foot, to avoid hitting the door frame, and is just recovering from this position when the horse leaps the high railing in front of the saloon, and is off at a mad gallop.

Dorothy Dalton.
A tale of the Canadian wilds, a picture of primal passions, wherein the tyranny of fear is at last conquered in a woman's heart and her fight to regain her soul and self-respect finally is won against fearful odds—this is "Tyrant Fear," the latest Paramount photoplay, in which the ever popular Dorothy Dalton is the star.

Miss Dalton has exemplified a wonderful versatility in her recent picture successes, and one need only witness "Love Me" and then see "Tyrant Fear," to reach the conclusion that none save an artist of the highest attainments could essay two characters so diametrically opposite and do such full justice. Yet this is what Miss Dalton has done according to those who have made a study of the two roles alluded to.

In this typical Thomas H. Ince production, which is to be shown at the Alhambra theater next Monday and Tuesday, Miss Dalton will be seen as Allaine Grandet, a Canadian girl, daughter of a decadent Frenchman, whom she fears. He sells her to a ruffianly trader, who in turn plays her as a stake in a game of cards and loses her to a gambler and keeper of a dive. Still under the influence of fear, Allaine endures everything until one day she shoots and wounds her master, an act which magically transforms her nature, banishes her inherent fear and makes her a courageous woman, capable of great deeds.

GEM.
William M. Chapman, the actor who plays the role of the wealthy lumber magnate in "Elmo, the Fearless," the new serial starring Elmo Lincoln, now being shown weekly at the Gem theater is one of the leading character actors in moving pictures. He has been in seven productions almost from the first days of the cinema. Before coming to the screen he played on the stage for more than twenty years.

GRAND.
Beautiful scenic backgrounds abound in the new Select special attraction, "A Scream in the Night," to be shown at the Grand last time today, lending additional interest to a photoplay that has been proclaimed the photodramatic sensation of the day because of its unique and divine story.

Much of the story of "A Scream in the Night" is laid in the upper reaches of the Amazon, where, beyond a rubber country of hurried beach and tangled growth, there lies the undiscovered region in which flows the River of Doubt.

A special picked program has been arranged for Saturday. Antonio Moreno in "The Closing Jaws," chapter 6 of "The Invisible Hand," Montgomery & Rock in "Throbs and Thrills," Snub Pollard in "The Dippy Dentist."

LYRIC.
Loop's Yip-Yip-Yanks are giving the clever farce comedy, "Happy Days," and it is full of laughs, with Eddie Loop as the country kid, with his whistling and bird imitations. There will be change of all musical numbers by the chorus. As an extra feature tonight there will be 6 big amateur acts, some of them on the first time on any stage. The 13th episode of "Mask Rider" will be the feature picture.

March Brings Out Unightly Spots. How to Remove Easily.

The woman with tender skin dreads March because it is likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength Othine should remove them. Get an ounce from your druggist and banish the freckles. Money back if it fails.—Advt.

has never provided with for the display of her wide range of emotional power. The basic theme of the play is absorbing as only that theme can be, for it is ancient as Lillith and as new as the dawn colored yesterday. For what can be at once so old and so new as the immortal tale of the woman who loves not wisely but too well? And what so interesting to such a woman unless it be two such women? It is no exaggeration to say that Lillith Othine, as created and interpreted by Kalich, is the great outstanding feminine dramatic characterization of the year, and that Kristine Jespersen, played by Adele Klier, is the most pathetic and selfish victim of man's inhumanity to woman since "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Ben Mahomet.

Ben Mahomet, an Arabian shiek and brother of the Amir of Hedjaz, has been rewarded after a long search for seventeen-year-old Sari, one of the richest of Turkish heiresses. Oak-Shoot Germany.
The latest German postage stamp shows four young oak-shoots springing from the stump of a dead-and-gone tree, to signify the resurrection of the new Germany from the old. The designer of the stamp evidently overlooked the fact that while shoots may spring from an old stump and flourish in a small way, yet the stump itself never grows into a great tree again. The oak-shoots fill an oval frame or scroll, on which appears the words "Deutsche Nationalversammlung" (German Federation). The part within the oval is blue; without, the corners showing the figures of value, are brown.

WOLF SHOWS REAL CUNNING
Stefansson Compares Him With the Fox, to the Disadvantage of the Smaller Animal

The wisdom of the fox is not so evident as the saying is widespread, but the more I see of wolves the more respect I have for their intelligence, which is unique among the nonhuman inhabitants of the North.

The second day on the new land I met a wolf that came running toward me at first, for he could not fail to mistake me at a distance for a caribou, but when he got within two hundred yards and could see more plainly he realized my strangeness and, what is truly remarkable, inferred that I might be dangerous. This wolf could certainly never have seen a human being before, and the only dark thing of size comparable to mine that he had ever seen must have been either a caribou or a muskox. The caribou are his prey, and while he seldom kills a muskox he at least has no reason to fear that exceptionally clumsy and slow-moving animal.

But at two hundred yards this wolf paused and, after a good look that satisfied him that I was something new in his experience, commenced to circle me at that distance to get my wind. When he got it took him off at top speed. The similarly unsophisticated foxes of this region will commonly run within ten or fifteen yards of you and follow you around for miles, barking like a toy dog following a pedestrian.—Vilhjalfr Stefansson in Harper's Magazine.

EXERCISE MAY BE OVERDONE
Nature's Signals to Desist Should Be Heeded by Those Who Would Preserve Health.

"Pursued ostensibly to promote personal welfare, physical exercise is not infrequently carried to a point of overdoing, which results in injury rather than benefit," says the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Commenting on some observations made on aviators, it says the test of the value of an exercise lies in the physiological adjustments that it induces. "If the heart reduces its rate of beating and is less sensitive to exercise, the training is commendable. Training should make the heart and other muscles better and endure fatiguing exercises better than the untrained heart does." Consequently, if the heart reacts excessively as a result of work; if there is a rapid rise in pulse rate, which returns to its normal only after a long interval, the fundamental aim of exercise for health has not been accomplished. The symptoms of an overworked mechanism are at hand. However, advantageous vigorous training may be the great majority of cases, failure to adjust to the increased demand of work is always a signal to desist and an indication that other modes of perfecting the organism should be sought."

Remarkable Thinness.
Prof. J. Perrin has made a study of soap bubbles—just the kind that little folks blow with clay pipes—and he announces that they are five millionths thick. This means that it would take more than five million films of a soap bubble to make one inch of thickness. While this is getting down pretty fine, still the elementary leaflet of mica is finer. Mica can be split down to a thickness of one molecule, which is thinner than the thickness of the skin of a soap bubble, which suggests that the latter must be crystalline in structure. Just before a soap bubble bursts dark spots form on it. He found that these housed still darker, smaller spots. These are droplets of water surrounded by strata condensed upon the membrane. They are described as being like dust motes in a sunbeam.

Gentleness.
Gentleness is a natural element. To train, restrain or subdue the character so that it will manifest this virtue is not to give to that character the element of gentleness. The result will be to tame but not to make gentle. When one is able to control by watchfulness his actions, so that they result in gentleness, he possesses something less than gentleness. Gentleness must be natural to be truly genuine. Where love, intent and fervor, abounds, that is the sort of soul that possesses gentleness. It is out of the abundance of the heart that the mouth should speak. It is from the abundance of the regenerate spirit that the soul shall unveil the grace of gentleness in myriad relations. Disposition, temper and manner are in the province of this virtue. They must possess it.—Christian Intelligencer.

Cotton in the Far North.
Flowers grow profusely in many parts of the arctic regions. One of the most frequently met with is the cotton plant. Northern miners have a saying that wherever cotton blooms, ice is not far below. One may walk for miles, between the months of June and August, through fields of cotton plants in flower, the white, silky tops swaying in the arctic breeze. At present little use is made of it from an industrial point of view, except where the down is gathered for filling pillows. The flowers bloom luxuriantly, as is natural where the sun shines continuously during the summer months. Among others, the flower-hunter may gather purple larkspur, bluebells, monk's hood, primroses, asters, lilies-of-the-valley and even a kind of arctic geranium, pink or white in color.

The Arctic fox is brown in summer and white in winter.

BANKING SYSTEM IN THE SCHOOLS

Novel Means for Saving Small Sums Introduced in Ohio.

WAR SAVINGS BENEFITED

New Plan Originated by Ohio War Savings Committee Provides Instruction in Practical Banking For School Pupils.

Columbus, O. (Special).—Many Ohio schools have been quick to adopt the new banking plan of savings devised by the educational department of the Ohio War Savings Committee. The plan calls for a system similar to the pass book system of regular banks. Teachers act as tellers and the basis of deposits is the 5-cent piece.

Milton Harrison, executive manager Savings Banks association of New York, recently wrote Ohio War Savings officials that "the facilities for saving must begin in the school." He declared there was no more effective way of teaching thrift than through the school savings bank established and operated by school children. "Every school in America should install such a bank," he said.

Saves Small Amounts.

The system of banking arranged by the Ohio War Savings Committee was designed to permit the children to save their money in small amounts. Each pupil is provided with a pass book and each teacher with a rubber stamp representing a nickel. For each nickel the pupil brings the teacher, a space is stamped in the pass book. The teacher holds the money in trust for the pupil until all the 80 spaces in the pass book are filled when the pupil will have deposited $4. The pupil then gives the teacher the pass book with the difference between $4 and the current price of a War Savings Stamp and the teacher purchases a War Savings Stamp for the pupil and issues a new pass book.

ILLNESS COSTS U. S. WAGE EARNERS OVER BILLION DOLLARS EVERY TWELVE MONTHS

The annual sick bill of $1,000,000,000 American wage earners is over $1,000,000,000.

The time clock of the nation shows that each worker, through sickness, loses an average of nine days. This means that the working time of the nation is decreased by more than $50,000,000.

Half of the billion-dollar sick bill represents wages lost—subtracted from the total of earnings expected to finance the budgets of millions of families. The other half represents the bill for doctors, nurses and medicines. And the total is twice the amount given annually in the United States for all philanthropic purposes in normal times. It equals the amount required to conduct the business of the National Government the year before the war. Millions more go to the maintenance of hospitals and other agencies to combat illness. Seven thousand hospitals are operated in the United States. Not only public and private funds are used to meet this expense, but the churches of America pay their share of the cost in the maintenance of denominational hospitals. For the churches have recognized their obligation to care for the physical as well as the spiritual welfare of humanity.

This is the problem of illness as it is presented by the survey now being made by the Interchurch World Movement. This survey indicates that the Protestant Churches, through co-operative effort, can play a large part in reducing this tremendous financial and human loss. Just as the missionary in non-Christian lands, it points out, sets his hospital beside his little church, so the church at home, by a concerted effort, can make the hospitals a part of its work as well as an aid to its progress.

The survey has formulated a program as a proposal for the co-operative effort of the evangelical churches. An increase in the efficiency and capacity of existing denominational hospitals is the first provision of this program.

Construction of 21 new hospitals is the second. These hospitals include 12 general hospitals for white people; twelve for negroes; one tuberculosis sanitarium for Arizona; four hospitals for incurables and two children's hospitals.

WOOL FOR SPRING

Duveltyns, Light-Weight Velours and Twills Are Used.

Plaids, Popular for Sport Wear, Appear in Numerous Soft Color Combinations.

In wool materials for spring there will again be used two types of textiles—soft-surfaced materials, such as duveltyns and light-weight velours and twills. Of the former type is a new duvelty of soft and delicate appearance, and so constructed as to eliminate the tendency to crush. Its richness of texture and coloring are characteristic qualities of this material. Another new duvelty has a weave suggesting the comb in which the bees store honey, and a third has a very fine vertical weave. These materials come in lovely colorings, among which are several shades of taupe and tan called heron, Sahara and rousalix, says Vogue. A very soft medium shade of blue is called bleu France, twilight blue, which the name quite aptly describes, and Atlantic, a soft peacock shade, are other colors which promise to be in much demand. Chestnut brown and seal brown seem to be the most popular brown tones. There is a coral tone, and a shade of red called mandarin, which for early spring will undoubtedly be seen in hats and which will probably feature as trimming for spring frocks.

Checks in a material with a glove-like finish, are smart and novel for spring wear, and these will figure to special advantage in skirts accompanying plain jackets. Plaids, in the same material, are more pronounced in character, and therefore better for sport wear; they appear in a number of interesting soft color combinations.

STILL THE VOGUE FOR BROWN

Popular Color Even Extends to the Realm of the Fashionable Evening Gowns.

The present vogue for brown promises to continue through next spring. The very dark shade known as tete de negre is accorded special prominence in the advance groupings of spring frocks now on view in many of the smart shops.

The all brown evening or dance frock, especially if made of taffeta and a sheer, yet crisp material, such as tulle or lace, is lovely. There are so many shades of brown that practically every woman may wear it, and to the woman who has a touch of red in her hair brown is especially becoming.

In considering evening gowns black must not be overlooked. Black net, tulle or lace, is the ideal fabric, of course, with a bit of jet as a brightening touch. With the black evening gown, black slippers with silver or gold colored heels are decidedly chic.

BRIEF FASHION NOTES

Redingote styles are favored for the found dresses for spring.

For sport wear coats of leather are combined with skirts of velours to develop unusually smart suits.

The elon jacket suit, usually with plaited skirt, is to be a favorite with very young women, it is said.

The combination of navy and bright red is one of the season's fancies in frocks and suits for the young.

The skirt that is being worn at present by some of the smartest women in New York is the three-banded one.

Striped girdles add gay touches to somber frocks, which also show much use of raffia, leather and flower trimmings.

Guinea pigs begin to breed at the age of ten months.

A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE FOR THIS FARMER'S FAMILY

Such Is Nerv-Worth When Parents
And Children Are "Off Their Feed."

An Especial Message of Comfort To The Ailing Mothers of Young Babies.

The following highly interesting praise was given to East Liverpool's Nerv-Worth drugstore a few days ago.
Every suffering reader, every friend of such a sufferer, should read Allen Guthrie's words at least twice, so important and convincing are they:

C. T. Larkins: "We have many reasons to praise Nerv-Worth at our house.
As we all have at different times taken
it. After our last little girl was born the mother did not get strong as fast as she should. Her appetite was very poor and she could not rest well at night."

I got her a bottle of Nerv-Worth and she had only taken a few doses when we noticed an improvement in her condition. She took three bottles at that time. And now when any of us get "off of our feed" or feel bad we take some Nerv-Worth and get all right in a short time."

ALLEN GUTHRIE,
East Liverpool, O. R. F. D. 2.

The children also take Nerv-Worth in the Guthrie home and there are three of them.

ark. Your dollar back if this famous family tonic does not benefit you.

CHANGES IN ORBIT OF MOON

Explains Fact That Eclipses Do Not Occur on or About Same Dates
Every Year

Lunar eclipses always occur at full moon, or when the sun and moon are in opposition, and are caused by the moon passing through earth's shadow.
As the moon in her course passes the sun once every month, and also places the earth between herself and the sun once a month, it is evident that if she moved in the plane of the ecliptic there would be either a total or annular eclipse of the sun and a total eclipse of the moon every month. They do not happen every full moon because the moon's orbit is inclined to the ecliptic the great circle of the heavens round which the sun seems to travel from west to east in the course of a year, allowing her to pass the sun to an angle of nearly 5 degrees and 9 minutes to the north and south of his track, preventing such a frequent occurrence of eclipses. From the magnitude of the angle of inclination of her orbit to the ecliptic an eclipse can only occur on a full moon happening when the moon is at or near one of her nodes, or points where her orbit intersects the ecliptic.
Therefore, if the moon does not travel on the ecliptic, which would result in a lunar eclipse every full moon, it is logical to say that the moon does not follow the same orbit year after year.
If the moon followed the same orbit year after year, lunar eclipses would occur on or about the same dates every year, but the fact is that they might occur any full moon.—Kansas City Star.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SINKING OF U. S. SHIPPING BOARD VESSEL

The foundered steamer Moccasin.

Mystery surrounds the sinking of the 10,000-ton U. S. shipping board steamer "Moccasin," which lies, partly submerged, at the foot of Columbia street, Brooklyn. The vessel suddenly filled with water and sank, listing far to one side, as the photo shows. The officers and crew barely had time to leap to the pier. Investigation revealed that all the ship's scuttles and the scuttle were open.

PURITY

Considerable changing of residences among the people of this community is scheduled for this spring. Mr. and Mrs.
Dana Beatty have sold their property here to Frank Harris and will have a sale of personal property. March 17, prior to locating elsewhere. Mr. Harris will then move to the residence vacated by Beatty, and his son, Delbert, and wife will move to the Harris farm. Roy Farley is moving his family to St.
Louisville and Harvey Burrell will move to the farm vacated by them and Venga Glover will move to the property now occupied by the Burrell family.
Miss Arbie Reynolds is keeping house for Mrs. John Elliott, who is with her mother, Mrs. Mary Stewart, and brother, Aleck Stewart, who are very ill at their home, north of Newark.
Miss Elizabeth Elliott returned home
Saturday from the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Weaver, at St. Louisville, where she nursed Mr. and Mrs. Weaver and their little daughter, Helen, through a two-weeks' illness.
Dane Hawke went to Lodi Monday
to take a position, with the Ohio Fuel Supply company as pumper in the oil field there.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Every man owes it to himself to relax from the humdrum routine of his daily task (whatever that may be) and let down the bars that tighten the nervous tension in the human body
during business hours. "There's a time for work and a time for play." This applies equally as well to grownups as it does to the youth.

History reveals the hobbies of many great men. Abraham Lincoln was wont to romp through the corridors of the White House with his little son Tad, in the youthful pleasure of "hide and go seek," "bloom the bear," and "teap the frog," during the darkest days of the Civil war. Jefferson's hobby was the violin. George Washington was a horseman. Grover Cleveland was an ardent disciple of Isaac Walton and a persistent fisherman. Theodore Rosevelt was a horseman and a big-game hunter, while President Wilson likes golf. No matter how strenuous your work may be, how irksome your daily task, relaxation after the grind of the working day builds for better health and fuller contentment.

Recreation makes the muscles laugh and the entire human system is refreshed as a result. Don't allow yourself to become stale by lack of diversion. It's harder to get out of the physical rut created by a listless mind and an inactive body than it is to recover from a serious malady.

The Old Homestead Recreation parlor believes that everyone needs to play a little and has incurred a very considerable expense in providing a fully-equipped recreation parlor for the healthful pleasure of its patrons after working hours. If you haven't got a hobby, develop one and note the difference.

13. Music, flowers, singing and Captain Perry, world's champion finger-billardist.

Have You a "Gone" Feeling? Fagged Out in the Morning?

Do you get any rest at night? Or are you up at night with aches and pains, the morning you are more fatigued than the evening before?

Many suffer needlessly from kidney trouble. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. If they fail in this, your life is made unhappy by poisoned blood coursing through your veins, making you irritable, stupid, quick-tempered and utterly miserable all the time.

Stop it! Your only hope is in awakening your weaker kidneys—putting them to work at purging your system of germ-laden waste matter.

Dodd's Kidney Pills will aid you effectively in cleansing your system of all poisons, restoring tired organs and muscles, and putting you on the road to good health. Make your life a series of bright, happy days. Each morning be looked forward to as a time of good cheer. Open up the windows—enjoy the fresh air. Don't be a slave to ill health.

You can get Dodd's Kidney Pills (three D's in the name) at your druggist, unless he's sold out. Then send 50c in stamps for the first round box. Address Dodd Medicine Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

ARE YOU CONSTIPATED? Diamond Diner Pills are mild cathartics that are healthful and pleasing. No ill after-effects.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Use Soothing Musterole

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on your temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frost-bite—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

20c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

WHEN SEWING FOR CHILDREN

Let the Youngsters Help Choose Colors and Styles for Their Clothes.

Children's styles change so slightly that trying to give advice to the mother who is planning a sewing session is rather a difficult task. The best advice, really, is to study the figure and general style of the child for whom a dress is intended and make it just as becoming to her particular type as it can be made.

The gimpie dress is a perennial favorite and it is one of the most sensible, as several separate waists of white and different colored material may be made to go with each dress at comparatively trifling expense.

One lesson that mothers of small daughters are learning is to permit the child to take an active part in determining the color and general style of her own clothes. Time was when children were given no voice in this all important matter. Their clothes were selected for them and their part was merely to wear those clothes. A child may be made genuinely unhappy by being compelled to wear a dress or hat that she does not like and does not consider becoming, and certainly it is not too much to give reasonable consideration to their preferences.

Allowing the little girl to have a voice in the selection of her wardrobe trains and educates her taste in dress for years that are ahead and, as every one knows, being well and suitably dressed is a big business and social asset.

SHOULD BE WELL DRESSED

Good Clothes Card of Admission Through Gates of Opportunity, Business and Social Circles.

We are all desirous of improving our position in life; we want to know more and be more; we want to live better, have more pleasure and comfort, and last but not least be able to do more for those who are dependent upon us—make happier and more complete the lives of those we love.

These achievements are possible. These ambitions can be realized as we gain the confidence and respect of those with whom we work or those with whom we associate.

Our ability and our worth are first gauged by our outward appearance; if we are dressed well, becomingly, look comfortable and prosperous, we give the impression of prosperity, prosperity born of achievement, and this impression inspires, confidence and respect. When folks think well of us, we do well and feel happier.

This form of thrift may seem a somewhat intangible quality, but it is the indisputable thrift of a conservation of personal energy and effort. When you are dressed well, you don't have to struggle so hard for recognition, for a chance; your good clothes are a card of admission through the gates of opportunity into business and social circles.

Concerted efforts are active at the moment for a greater understanding of thrift, for a greater acceptance of plans that will develop and maintain thrift.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF

Very few raglan sleeves are seen. The knee-length coat is a favorite. Tailored dresses are made of taffeta.

France is for bloused effect in coats. Fur finishes the ends of some trains.

Velveteen and corduroy are materials used extensively in making cold-weather lounging robes and negligees.

Net blouses continue to be regarded favorable and the new ones are trimmed with lace frills or with finely plaited rufflings.

The new corsets being brought out for spring and summer are generally a little more definitely corseted than have been worn for several seasons. Nearly all have very long skirts.

Among simple models that are receiving commendation may be mentioned plain slip-over blouses of crepe de chine, entirely untrimmed, finished at times with a plain round neck, at others with an accordion-plaited, frill about the neck and down the front to the waistline.

TURBAN FOR YOUTHFUL FACE

This is a chic little hat, quite stunning, worn at a rakish angle almost covering the eye, and especially becoming to the youthful face.

THE ANSWER

By FLORENCE BURRILL.

(© 1929, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Neil Mackenzie was the biggest, broadest lad in Winsbury, with the crispest dark hair and the clearest blue eyes. He had that combination of strength and boyishness which women love, and could easily have been very much of a ladies' man had he not been as bashful as he was handsome. Girls adored his lithe virility, and he received an early invitation to all of the Winsbury merry-makings. But the presence of the other sex invariably turned Neil from a living, laughing Hermes to a frozen statue. And to make things worse, he was very much in love with Cecily.

Cecily was a wee bit of a lassie, honey-colored as to hair, violet-hued as to eyes, apple-blossomy as to cheeks. A pretty air of dignity tried to contradict her little-girl figure, and she was, according to an enthusiastic friend, "just sweet!" And if she had the appearance of a tinted marble Venus she must have had some of the attributes also, for none of the many suitors Winsbury and other towns offered had made the slightest impression on the cool little heart under her dainty laces. She accepted their devotion graciously, was the merriest and most fun-loving of the younger set, but always with a fastidious reserve that let none farther than the rest.

That is, until Neil began shyly to show his heart. With him she never coqueted, his invitations she never refused, toward him she showed a sweet and simple liking; and soon the big, dark lad and the small, flowerlike girl were seen together very often indeed setting out for a country walk or drifting through the rhythm of a waltz.

But this very friendship puzzled Neil. It was so different from her treatment of other lovers; and it never occurred to him that her feeling for him might be different also. To his mind her laugh was the most joyous thing on earth, and herself the dearest. But he feared to tell her lest it end their friendship; so they were pals through the sparkling January days and the wistful April ones, with no hint of anything deeper.

When June came he could stand it no longer. He decided to take the big chance, tell her, then if she couldn't marry him, go where his profession of engineer promised success. How should he ask Cecily? He never could bare his heart with those purple eyes on him; a letter was so impersonal and cold; there should be no third party's blundering, and these were the only orthodox methods of proposing, unless—

Neil rushed to the nearest music store, purchased a blank record and had it on the victrola at home before the glow of the wonderful inspiration had time to dull. Into the little disk he spoke his love—straightforward, yearning, tender, as he could never have expressed it to her in person. Visioning a star-eyed girl in the shadows, he told how he cared for her with the simple, honest love of a clean heart, how eager he would work to make her happy; but if she didn't, couldn't love him, she was not to feel the least bit grieved nor blame herself at all, for how could a girl like her love a great, clumsy thing like him? "Only please let me know as soon as you can, dear; and if it is 'no' there is a position waiting out West, where work will keep me a man. When your answer comes I shall either telegraph that I cannot accept—or start at once. Oh, Cecily, Cecily, shall I stay?"

The tiny parcel which meant so much in life and hopes of Neil Mackenzie was dispatched by special messenger, and an anxious boy faced the hours that must pass before an answer came. He could see Cecily receive the record and run merrily to try it through at once, as she always did a new one; he could see her look of amazement—but there his vision failed. Did her face grow tender or sad or frightened?

Scarcely two hours had gone before a ring at the doorbell revealed another messenger boy with a parcel. Mackenzie tore it open and found—just his record.

He slipped the record into place and started the machine. How strange to hear his own tones! He smiled, half-sadly and half-whimsically, at the passion of the words. The plea came to an end: "Oh, Cecily, Cecily, shall I stay?" The needle whirled noisily several times. Then clear and vibrant in the voice of his sweetheart came the answer she had spoken into it: "Yes."

Use for Persimmon Juice.

Persimmon juice improves the paint used on the bottom of a ship, or the roof of a house. In Japan it solved the problem presented by the failure of western house paints to last satisfactorily in the Japanese climate. It was only quite lately, however, that western countries had shown any interest in this Japanese product. Now that a beginning has been made in using it to mix enamel and white lead, a foreign demand has begun which is expected to increase to large proportions.

Linked Oceans Long Ago.

The Panama canal is one of the modern wonders of the world, but the Royal Mail company organized transit by mules and canoes across the isthmus as far back as 1846 and partially financed the Panama Railway company in 1850.

Education was made obligatory in Japan in 1891.

CARRY OWN WOOD TO SCHOOL

French Children Study Their Lessons in Cold Buildings With Shell-Torn Holes.

Children of Laos, in the devastated Aisne district, have to take their own wood to school. Instead of swinging along merrily, as American children do, with their books under their arms, each thin little youngster staggers along under an armful of wood, shell-shattered tree trunks or bits of timber from trench and dugout. It is the only method of keeping warm in the desolate schoolrooms.

Under the conditions prevailing in schools in northern France, Lincoln's persevering studies by the light of a big log fire cease to be remarkable. The back room of a cafe, the cold interior of a village church with the wind whistling through apertures in the walls made by shells, or perhaps the one remaining room of the former schoolhouse are the places where the French children are studying without books, paper or pencils through the long, cold, dark winters of northern France.

For blackboards the bare walls are used. Charcoal or bits of chalk from the white cliffs of the country must serve as pencils. A few of the more fortunate children have bits of slate from some shattered roof upon which they painfully execute their lessons.—Stars and Stripes.

An orchestra will be present Saturday and entertainers have been secured from Akron, Toledo and Cleveland. In addition Col. The Radish.
Who disdains the humble radish? Certainly not Miss Trouard-Riolle, a young French woman who has chosen the radish as the subject of her theme for the doctor's degree of the Faculte de Paris. The radish, it now turns out, is no mere mushroom of the vegetable world. Besides its edible qualities it wears the halo of tradition. Hence the enthusiasm of Miss Trouard-Riolle. She has discovered, after arduous research, that the radish was known of the Egyptians and of the Chinese. As yet research has not provided any clue to the whereabouts of the radish from the early times to the beginning of the fifteenth century, when it entered France in varied coats of black, of white, and red. It must be laid to Miss Trouard-Riolle, or others of the same indefatigable curiosity to discover.

John H. Jones, a well known brakeman on the B. & O. railroad, who lives at 395 Eddy street, Newark, is highly enthusiastic over the Redex, the new Herbal Remedy, now being introduced in Newark at Erman's Arcade Drug Store. He says:

"My wife was in a highly nervous, rundown condition; she had no appetite whatever and what she did eat nearly always disagreed with her and caused distress afterwards; she seldom slept well and was gradually losing weight and strength. She tried a number of remedies but nothing seemed to help her much. She was a shadow of her former self until two weeks ago when she started taking Redex. Since then she has felt like a new woman. She eats well and sleeps well and is bright and cheerful; she has gained in weight and strength and her nervous headaches and general indisposition seems to have disappeared. We are both feeling happy and gratified over the wonderful improvements. We shall always have a kind word for Redex; it is a fine medicine. Those who suffer from ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, with indigestion, sour stomach, biliousness, constipation, pains across the back, or in the joints, and a general worn-out, run-down condition will find prompt relief in Redex. The Redex man is at Erman's Arcade Drug Store, where he will cheerfully meet all callers and explain the merits of this new remedy. Redex can be had in Granville at Uman's Drug Store; Alexandria, C. M. Gilmore; Hebron Drug Store, Hebron.—Adv't.

B. & O. BRAKEMAN ENDORSES REDEX VERY HIGHLY
Brought His Wife Health and Strength In Very Short Time, Says John H. Jones

John H. Jones, a well known brakeman on the B. & O. railroad, who lives at 395 Eddy street, Newark, is highly enthusiastic over the Redex, the new Herbal Remedy, now being introduced in Newark at Erman's Arcade Drug Store. He says:

"My wife was in a highly nervous, rundown condition; she had no appetite whatever and what she did eat nearly always disagreed with her and caused distress afterwards; she seldom slept well and was gradually losing weight and strength. She tried a number of remedies but nothing seemed to help her much. She was a shadow of her former self until two weeks ago when she started taking Redex. Since then she has felt like a new woman. She eats well and sleeps well and is bright and cheerful; she has gained in weight and strength and her nervous headaches and general indisposition seems to have disappeared. We are both feeling happy and gratified over the wonderful improvements. We shall always have a kind word for Redex; it is a fine medicine. Those who suffer from ailments of the stomach, liver and kidneys, with indigestion, sour stomach, biliousness, constipation, pains across the back, or in the joints, and a general worn-out, run-down condition will find prompt relief in Redex. The Redex man is at Erman's Arcade Drug Store, where he will cheerfully meet all callers and explain the merits of this new remedy. Redex can be had in Granville at Uman's Drug Store; Alexandria, C. M. Gilmore; Hebron Drug Store, Hebron.—Adv't.

The Burke boys played their best game of the season last night against the Y Seniors but weight and shooting ability told in favor of the triangle men. While the golf boys showed bursts of fast playing it was the consistent speedy playing of the Y men that outclassed the smaller opponents. The north end teams comeback in the last half in which period they scored 15 points showing the fighting spirit. Final score: Y, 51, Burke Golf 26.

The second contest found old rivals matched. It was a wild and woolly game from start to finish with every fellow in the game and on the job. Comparatively few fouls were called. Huffman did all the scoring for the A. B. C. team in the first half but was assisted in the last period by the rest of the team. Basket locating for either team was below par with the A. B. C. squad a shade better. The first half score was A. B. C. 9, Wehrle 6, Final score, American Bottle, 23; Wehrle, 17.

HOLD AUTO DRIVER FOR SALOONIST'S DEATH

New Castle, March 12.—Alex Rose, of Girard, Ohio, driver of the car which took Emil Hidas, Girard saloon keeper to his death near Edenburg, Pennsylvania, where he was shot and buried in snow bank Monday, is in the county jail here today on a charge of murder. Rose, who said that he had been employed by Hidas to take him to a rendezvous with whisky sellers, who shot and robbed him, was arrested after testimony at the inquest yesterday afternoon. Police acted upon the theory that Rose, who is a cousin of a man whom Hidas ran down and killed in his automobile recently, did the shooting out of revenge. Rose said that the whiskey salesman, who he said were picked up at Youngstown, robbed Hidas of $2,000. Relatives found, however, that Hidas's bank balance was untouched and that his pocketbook had been left intact.

REALTY DEALS ARE NUMEROUS IN CITY

O. E. Warrington, real estate dealer, reports the transfer of thousands of dollars' worth of city realty in the past several months. He stated today that he has numerous applications for property, either purchase or rental, but desirable houses are a scarce article in Newark. Some relief will have to be devised, he stated, or people coming to Newark will have to camp out in tents. Just at present he is looking for a good tenant to lease a hotel at Moundbuilders Park, one who will serve meals during special attractions and during the week of the county fair.

It Trovatore, by Verdi, which lends itself to outdoor treatment, has been tentatively selected as the opera to be given. It will be staged under the direction of the Akron Music League, which will be kept intact this year as a nucleus of this and further entertainments to be given this year.
